POLES MAKING WARSAW STAND

FRENCH PENETRATED GERMAN FOREST

SLOW ADVANCE ON WESTERN FRONT BY ATTACKING FORCES

BRITISH TROOPS LAND IN FRANCE AND MOVE UP TO REINFORCE FRENCH

PARIS, Sept. 7. (AP)—The French general staff reported tonight the Germans were rushing up reinforcements to meet the increasing French attack on the northern flank of the western front.

The officials communique said new German forces had been observed moving up from the interior of Germany.

The announcement was the first indication French pressure might be succeeding in its aim of forcing the German command to concentrate troops in the west and ease pressure in Poland.

PARIS, Sept. 7. (AP)—A French force was reported tonight to have penetrated the German forest of Blomwald, just north of Lauterberg.

Although the reported advance was only slight in this sector of the northern flank and had not yet been reported specifically in a communique, military observers regarded it as meaning a spread in the fighting on the western front.

Lauterberg is of strategic importance as the pivot of the French lines opposite the main Siegfried line, Germany's fortifications wall facing the French frontier.

These sources said the line forms a formidable barrier to the south, and that the center not only is most strategically placed for defense, but also is regarded as the most heavily fortified.

PARIS, Sept. 7. (AP)—British reinforcements were moving up today to join French forces reported officially already to have advanced on German soil.

The French and British general staffs were in consultation to coordinate their forces.

British sources, bordering advice said German advance guards on the Western front were withdrawing slowly into the main forts of the Siegfried line.

The French had advanced as much as 15 kilometers (9-12 miles) in some places along the northern wing of the line, these reports said, but were moving cautiously.

Premier Daladier, who also is France's war minister, conferred today with General Maurice Gustave Gamelin, commander of all French and probable Generalissimo of combined British-French land forces.

Offer Stiff Resistance.
This morning's communique No. 7 from the war ministry indicated the Germans were offering stiff resistance but that the French were pursuing action on the Western front to relieve Poland on the Eastern front.

The British expeditionary force, which has been landing in France since early this week, is expected to be in position to throw its weight into battle within a few days.

The French and British general staffs have been co-ordinating action since the start of the campaign Monday, an official announcement disclosed.

MAJOR BATTLE FOR POSSESSION OF WARSAW DEVELOPING NORTH OF POLISH CAPITAL THURSDAY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE.
NEW YORK, Sept. 7. (AP)—A major battle for possession of Warsaw developed today just north of the great capital as highly mechanized and powerful German war machine thrust southward from East Prussia against the hard-pressed defenders.

This likely is one of the decisive engagements of the German-Polish conflict.

The loss of their capital naturally would represent a tragedy to the Poles. But this would be more because of sentimental reasons and the effect on the public morale, than because of the military aspect.

Of far greater importance is the security of the main Polish defenses which lie along the Vistula and Bug Rivers near their junction only 15 miles north of Warsaw.

Loss of these to the enemy would represent a grave defeat. Along the western European front the Germans were reported to be withdrawing slowly into the main forts of their powerful Siegfried line before the advancing French.

The movement merely means the French are feeling their way forward cautiously with the idea of getting into position for an attack.

Special Session Congress May Be Called Sept. 18

SALEM, Ore., Sept. 7. (AP)—Sen. Charles L. McNary (R-Ore.), senate minority leader, said President Roosevelt telephoned him today suggesting that congress meet in special session Sept. 18 to consider changes in the neutrality law, which prohibits shipment of arms and ammunition to belligerents.

McNary said he agreed to the President's request that he do what he could to have only neutrality legislation considered during the session, and that the session be of the shortest possible duration.

McNary made no comment on his stand on the President's request that all belligerents be permitted to buy arms and ammunition on a cash and carry basis.

McNary pointed out that Sept. 18 was only a tentative date for the special session.

WARSAW DEFENDERS FALL BACK TO LINE ON VISTULA RIVER

WOUNDED STAFF OFFICER REPORTS POLES TO BE FIGHTING LIKE LIONS

By LLOYD LEHRBAS.
WARSAW, Sept. 7. (AP)—The defenders of this Polish capital were reported today to have fallen back to a 30-mile line paralleling the Vistula river where they rallied and were "fighting like lions" against German tank thrusts.

The Polish line ran between Pionek and Pultusk, northwest and northeast of Warsaw, respectively. About 30 miles of open country and the protecting Vistula river were between Warsaw and the invaders from the north.

The right wing of the Poles had been hammered back from Ciechanow, about 25 miles northwest of Pultusk, pivoting on Pionek.

At one stage of the struggle the Poles were driven from Pultusk and the Germans threatened to turn the Polish flank and thrust on to the Vistula and Warsaw, Pultusk, however, was regained in the face of withering German fire.

A staff officer, slightly wounded, returned from the battlefield and reported the Poles were staunchly holding the Pionek-Pultusk line, beating off repeated German attempts to break through.

The officer is fighting like lions," he said.

The officer related that Germans with tank vanguards succeeded in piercing the line in several places and smashed the penetrating columns, destroying and capturing a considerable number of tanks.

The Poles were preparing for a desperate struggle at the very edge of Warsaw if the battle went against them on the Pionek-Pultusk line.

German planes raided the northern section of Warsaw just before noon yesterday.

An official radio announcement said Poles shot down six planes and destroyed one on the night before this morning's assault.

GERMANS CONTINUE ADVANCE ON WARSAW IN Pincer MOVES

HOPE TO BE ABLE CAPTURE POLISH CAPITAL WITHOUT TOO MUCH DAMAGE

By LOUIS F. LOCHNER.
BERLIN, Sept. 7. (AP)—The Associated Press was informed officially tonight that the German army already was within 20 miles of Warsaw, but even this report was declared "probably already completely superseded."

It was announced officially also that the Polish garrison at Westplatte, the Polish military depot in Danzig harbor, had surrendered at 10:20 a. m. today (3:20 a. m. C. S. T.). The Poles had been under German air and naval attack since early on the morning of Sept. 1.

The German supreme command stated the Westplatte force of 120 men fought gallantly for several days, but in view of the hopelessness of the general situation—as the Germans put it—decided to surrender.

Thus one of the greatest German fears, that Danzig, newly rejoined to the reich, might be destroyed by the Poles' setting off their big Westplatte ammunition stores, was said to have been allayed.

It was authoritatively asserted the accelerated speed with which German armies have been driving through Poland was due to the entire strategic defense plan of the Poles having fallen into German hands.

Among booty found when a Polish division surrendered, said a German informant, was an iron strong box. It contained plans for Poland's defense in minute detail.

CHAMBERLAIN TELLS COMMONS NAVY WILL CONTROL SUBMARINES

CERTAIN PERCENTAGE SHIPPING LOSSES BE EXPECTED, HE DECLARES

LONDON, Sept. 7. (AP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain told commons today Britain might "rest assured" its navy would "increasingly bring under control" the raiding activities of German submarines.

In a general statement to the house of the state of Britain's war activities and preparation, Chamberlain asserted also royal air force planes had scored "at least two hits" on a German pocket battleship in their special raid last Monday on the Kell Canal.

In discussing the submarine peril, he acknowledged "a certain percentage of weekly losses (to shipping) must be expected."

Recalling the sinking of the Athenia, he denounced it as a German "crime which has profoundly shocked and horrified the world."

And, he said, "no denials or intentions on the part of Germany will convince the public of German innocence."

Chamberlain remarked, too, that aside from the Athenia, "three or four" British ships had been sent to the bottom.

This reference was not amplified. Previous reports had accounted for the loss of but two British merchantmen in addition to the Athenia.

Ask Quicker Information.
In both the houses of Lords and Commons, labor leaders asked that quicker information be given the public, Lord Snell asserting it was "undoubtedly true that we can get more information from America than we can get here and that it is something that ought not to happen."

The prime minister also said Poland was "contesting every yard of the German advance."

RUSH BY CONSUMERS AND MANUFACTURERS BRINGS BIG BUSINESS

FIRMS IN MANY LINES HAVE TROUBLE IN MEETING DEMAND; PRICE CONFUSION

By FREDERICK GARDNER.
NEW YORK, Sept. 7. (AP)—A rush by consumers and manufacturers to stocks shelves, many of which were filled with large orders today and left firms in many lines struggling to meet the demand amid confusion over prices.

Foodstuffs, textiles, steel and numerous miscellaneous products felt the full force of the buying from raw materials to semi-finished and finished markets.

The outbreak of war caught business generally with reduced inventories after months of hesitant buying, although supplies of grains, cotton and numerous industrial materials were large.

This partly accounted for the violence of the upsurge in sensitive prices, some analysts said.

Processors and manufacturers in some lines have refrained from quoting prices to wholesalers until the full effects of the buying sweep were not yet visible.

A survey of conditions showed the following highlights:
Cotton goods—More than 300,000 yards estimated to have been sold this week in Worth Street, textile trading center, at advancing prices; some heavy industrial cloth boosted 1-2 to one cent a yard.

Steel—Export and domestic demand stimulated by the war news; prices uncertain with consumers waiting for announcement of fourth quarter prices to reveal results of the war boom in metals.

Canned goods—Packers of fruits raised prices to distributors 5 to 7-1/2 cents a dozen; quotations in some lines withdrawn, including Chicago packed meats.

Sugar—Flow of refined sugar generally with reduced inventories after months of hesitant buying, although supplies of grains, cotton and numerous industrial materials were large.

Processors and manufacturers in some lines have refrained from quoting prices to wholesalers until the full effects of the buying sweep were not yet visible.

BRITAIN ORGANIZES GERMAN OFFENSIVE ON LONG-TIME BASIS

VAST, COORDINATED CAMPAIGN ALONG THREE GENERAL LINES BEING MAPPED

LONDON, Sept. 7. (AP)—Great Britain guardedly organized its offensive against Germany today on a long-time basis for a fight to the finish.

The government has made plain by its brief and carefully worded communique during the first five days of the war that it is mapping under cover a vast, coordinated campaign along three general lines:

1. Military and aerial cooperation with France and Poland to harass Germany on two fronts.

2. Sweeping naval operations to choke off German supply lines, and intense propaganda work "to disorganize the economy of the enemy."

3. Careful civil defense preparations to keep its own nation at a peak of efficiency and more so as to be able to supply not only Britain's own forces but those of her allies with the materials for successful warfare.

British planes already have joined French aircraft in battering German munitions plants and the Saar valley and longer hops across Germany to help the Poles on the eastern front are expected as operations expand.

The British government last night announced consolidation into a unified army force of its regular army, territorial army, conscripted militia and auxiliary units. Chamberlain is assured through a law providing for conscription of men from 18 to 41.

Information of a ministry of home security with unannounced duties was disclosed last night.

Meanwhile Britain and France of Europe instead of an exile in Holland. They say it crushed Germany's chances of winning the first World War.

The battle began on Sept. 5 on a line from the outskirts of Paris eastward to the impregnable French fortress of Verdun. The Germans, in a series of attacks over northern France, had dangerously stretched their communications and supply lines. But there were 34 German divisions facing the British, French, Belgians and only four British divisions—"The Old Contemptibles."

It was then that Gen. Alexander von Kluck, the commander of the First German army who died five years ago at the age of 88, left his flanks exposed by pushing far southward toward Troyes. His army was nearest Paris and the shrewd military governor of that city, Gen. Joseph Gallieni, conceived the idea of the surprising taxicab maneuver.

Early on Sept. 8 the cabs began pouring out of the city to Nanterre. They carried five men each and many cabs were reported to have made two trips.

Von Kluck's army was hit on both flanks and on Sept. 9 a general retreat was under way. The first battle of the Marne was over.

PRISON PHYSICIAN KIDNAPED BY TWO ESCAPING CONVICTS

DR. M. E. CURTIS RETURNS HOME SAFELY AFTER WILD RIDE IN HIS CAR

HUNTSVILLE, Sept. 7. (AP)—Dr. M. E. Curtis of Huntsville, prison farm physician, returned safely home today after a wild night ride with two escaped convicts during which he said his life was threatened several times.

Dr. Curtis said two convicts, O'Neal Massey and Jack Cade came to his headquarters on the Eastham farm about midnight, claiming a convict worker was caught in the press at a prison cotton gin.

He went to his garage and just as he discovered the lock was broken, one of the pair tackled him.

"I let out one yell and the other convict stuck a knife in my ribs, threatening to kill me," he said.

A few minutes later, when the convicts, running the car without lights, ran into a ditch, Dr. Curtis said he pulled out the choke and blew the horn, and they threatened again to kill him.

Following the route Clyde Barrow took when he released Raymond Hamilton from the Eastham farm in 1933, the convicts drove through Lovelady, Crockett, Ratcliffe, Lufkin and Corrigan after cutting a wire fence to leave the farm. They released Dr. Curtis near Shepherd at 4 a. m., and he hitch-hiked to Huntsville.

Cade, 30, was serving a 25 year term from Dallas and Harris is said to be a robber with fire arms, assault to rob and burglary. Massey, 27, was serving five years from Harris county for robbery by assault.

The state police broadcast an alarm for all officers to watch for a two-door sedan (blue, Plymouth), in which the convicts were believed to be riding. The Eastham farm was the last place they were seen.

MAJOR BATTLE FOR POSSESSION OF WARSAW DEVELOPING NORTH OF POLISH CAPITAL THURSDAY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE.
NEW YORK, Sept. 7. (AP)—A major battle for possession of Warsaw developed today just north of the great capital as highly mechanized and powerful German war machine thrust southward from East Prussia against the hard-pressed defenders.

BRITISH TROOPS ARE ARRIVING IN FRANCE FOR GERMAN DRIVE

(By The Associated Press.)
Polish forces battled today to defend Warsaw against three swiftly converging armies while British reinforcements moved up toward the western front to bolster French vanguards said already to have advanced against Germany's main Siegfried line.

British Prime Minister Chamberlain gave the house of commons its first account of the warfare, but his statement was no more than "a general indication of the present situation."

He said the Poles were "contesting every yard" of the German advance "against overwhelming superiority in the air, outnumbered and outgunned."

Britain and France are in complete understanding, he said, "and the arrangements which have now been put into force for co-operation in all the activities concerned with the prosecution of the war are working smoothly and well."

Of the Athenia sinking, he said, "no denials or inventions on the part of Germany will convince the public of German innocence of this crime."

In Glasgow, meanwhile, owners of the British liner which sank Sunday night, said 128 persons still were missing of the 1,418 who were aboard.

Submarine Peril

Discussing the submarine peril, Chamberlain acknowledged some losses to shipping must be expected, but said counter measures already have been taken and a "convoy system" is being fully applied with the utmost speed and vigor.

The British expeditionary force, which has been landing in France since early this week, is expected to be in position to throw its weight into battle within a few days.

British Prime Minister Chamberlain told the house of commons Poland was "contesting every yard of the German advance."

He also said Royal air force planes had scored "at least two hits" on a German pocket battleship in an attack at Kiel, Germany, last Monday.

Another British ship, the 7,242-ton freighter Manar, went to the bottom after an explosion in the Atlantic ocean and 29 survivors were rescued, British sources reported she was torpedoed. One of her crew died and 58 were missing.

The Battle Picture
Behind the terse, pictorial war communique and censorship in all the combatant nations, this was indicated as the battle picture:

Western front:
French vanguards were reported pressing into Germany against stiff German resistance and driving spearheads into the Siegfried line, Germany's western frontier defenses, although at a cautious pace to escape traps.

In Basel, Switzerland, border advice said German advance guards were withdrawing slowly into their main forts before a French advance as deep in some places as 1-2 miles.

Defenders of Warsaw were reported by Poles to have rallied on a 30-mile line paralleling the Vistula river between Pionek and Pultusk.

In Berlin, Germany's three armies in Poland were said to be bearing down on Warsaw from the northeast and west. Germans

FIRST BATTLE OF MARNE WAS NEARING ITS CLIMAX 25 YEARS AGO; THEN CAME TAXICAB ARMY

NEW YORK, Sept. 7. (AP)—Twenty-five years ago today the first battle of the Marne—one of the great turning points of history—approached its climax.

In a few hours a most amazing military maneuver was to begin. A fleet of 1,100 high-bodied, cranky, old-fashioned French taxicabs would roar out of the eastern gates of Paris with fresh troops to save that city from the first serious threat made upon it during the World War.

Parisians have been fleeing to the provinces these past few days but not so many as a quarter of a century ago when the German hordes were within 18 miles of the capital and the French government had fled to Bordeaux.

Again a German army is pushing on in the hope of snatching "lightning" victory. But the big push for the time is eastward into Poland. Fate, however, seems to have decreed that if Germany is to be halted—if Poland is to be saved as Paris was in 1914—the French army must strike.

And on this anniversary, dispatches from Paris say the populace is impatient for news of a major French offensive.

Historians say today that if Germany had won the first battle of the Marne, the former Kaiser would now be the overlord

OPENING SCHOOLS ADD TO PROBLEMS OF TRAFFIC SAFETY

OFFICERS READY FOR CAM- PAIGN TO HOLD FATAL- ITIES TO MINIMUM

AUSTIN, Sept. 7.—Department of Public Safety officers to be prepared to combat pedestrian deaths with renewed activity as schools opened over the state, shopping increased and public gatherings became more numerous.

Recalling that the pedestrian death list rose disastrously to 201 from last September to June while 1,385 others were seriously injured, state police warned that a repetition of that toll is likely unless walking precautions are taken. Seventy-four school age persons were injured fatally when struck down by vehicles in that period. This, safety officials pointed out, shows the need for pedestrian drills among students, more precaution on the part of parents and increased pedestrian and driver vigilance.

Preliminary to its autumn, winter and spring campaign for pedestrian safety state police offered rules for the walking public, violations of which have caused the greatest number of deaths and injuries. The rules are:

1. Cross only at intersections and then only when the signal light favors you and vehicular traffic has cleared.
2. Look in all directions while crossing streets and highways.
3. Discharge passengers at curbs and have them alight from the side of the vehicle nearest the

Lifting Oil Ban Brings Projects For East Texas

GLADEWATER, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Lifting of the ban on petroleum production in Texas started construction projects in the East Texas oil field. The General American Gasoline company has begun a $75,000 hydro-carbon extracting unit for its casinghead gasoline plant here. This work began after announcement by the M. M. Travis refinery at Kilgore of plans for a $50,000 lead treating unit. Construction of a gasoline pipeline from the East Texas field to the Beaumont plant of a major company is under way.

Fred A. Williams, superintendent of the General American Gasoline company, estimated the building of the new unit would be a 60-day job for 25 men. He said the plant would increase its production to 10,000 gallons of propane and other hydro carbons in addition to the regular 17,000 gallons straight run of gasoline daily.

4. Do not stand off of curbs but remain on sidewalks.
5. Face oncoming traffic when necessary to walk on streets or highways.
6. Pedestrians should carry flashlights at night to warn approaching vehicles of their presence.

Return of the application for PWA assistance on the proposed improvements to the Corsicana waterworks system has been anticipated for several weeks following failure of congress to provide additional funds, city officials reported Thursday, and as a result new applications were filed some 60 days ago for WPA projects.

Members of the engineering department are now working on a second revised application made necessary by recently announced regulation changes. Applications have been filed for financial assistance on the waterworks project which involves a new main and other improvements and also for replacement of one of the main sewer lines in the northern portion of the city. A third project, the repaving of Third avenue, is reported progressing nicely.

Flyer Is Killed, Daughter Injured Crash Near Milford

WAXAHACHIE, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Still Jean Lay, 13, of Milford, Texas, was in a hospital here today with serious injuries received in an airplane crash which killed her father, Larry Lay, 34.

Witnesses said Lay borrowed the plane from a friend and was about to land after a pleasure flight when the craft went into a tail spin at about 200 feet and fell near his home.

Lay, a filer for a number of years, died ten minutes after he was brought here to a hospital. Still Jean received leg and arm fractures.

STATED INFANTILE PARALYSIS LARGELY SUMMER DISEASE

AUSTIN, Sept. 7.—(Spl.)—Infantile paralysis, like typhoid fever and intestinal disturbances of infants, is largely a summer disease. Although cases may occur at any month of the year, over half of the total number occur during July, August, September, and October. To date, 108 cases of poliomyelitis (infantile paralysis) have been reported to the Texas State Department of Health in 1938.

Direct contact between persons is regarded as being the chief factor in the spread of infantile paralysis. Because of the seasonal prevalence of the disease flies and other insects have been suspected of conveying the virus or germ. Insect transmission has not, however, been scientifically proven. Although animals are subject to paralysis, they are seemingly not susceptible to the human type of this paralytic disease. Carriers are difficult to determine; this fact makes advisable the reduction to a minimum of human contacts during an outbreak.

Early symptoms of infantile paralysis comprise headache, fever, vomiting, intestinal disorder, drooping eyelids, irritability, followed by neck or back stiffness. Prompt medical care, early recognition and reporting of cases to health authorities make possible the use of valuable preventive and control measures.

SPECIAL SERVICE FOR YOUNG PEOPLE AT REVIVAL MEETING

With some seven hundred people present and around one hundred and fifty young people going up for an altar service and a dedication prayer by the pastor, Dr. P. E. Riley, at the close of the services the young people's meeting at the First Methodist church Wednesday night was an outstanding success and as several expressed it was well worth the time and effort of the revival campaign.

There was over forty young people at the 7 o'clock young people's service directed by Mrs. Rufus Elliott, and Rev. Ross Smith, Young people's workers. The young people's choir was full and a young people's musical program was given at the night church services, in addition to the congregational singing and the singing of the combined choirs of the adults and young people.

The young people's musical program consisted of a hymn by the young people's choir, a solo by Keith Crowley and a duet by Misses Dorothy Burkhardt and Dorothy Love. Every seat was filled last night and additional chairs had to be brought out.

Dr. Tom Brabham, evangelist, who brought the message, told of some of his experiences as a secret service man in the last world war, he pleaded with the young people to shun sin, in any form; he said little sins grew into big sins and before one was aware of the fact sin had stifled their consciences and had brought ruin and woe to their lives and the lives of others.

Tonight the Chamber of Commerce quartet will bring special music; Dr. Brabham will use as his subject "The Problems of Salvation," there will be good congregational singing. The regular day services were held on Thursday morning, the final day service will be held Friday morning at 10 o'clock. The largest day attendance of the meeting was present Wednesday, including a group of women of the Missionary South who were holding a study period. Leaders of the various prayer groups reported renewed interest in these meetings.

Townsend Meeting
There will be a Townsend meeting at 404 South Fourteenth street Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Come one, come all. There is some very important business to attend to, and also some literature to distribute out among the people.

Respectfully submitted,

JOHNSON EXPLAINS NEUTRALITY ACT TO ROTARIANS TODAY

STEPS TAKEN KEEP UNITED STATES OUT OF THE NEW EUROPEAN WAR TOLD

Hon. Luther A. Johnson, vice-chairman and ranking democratic member of the important house foreign relations committee, was the speaker at Wednesday's luncheon meeting of the Rotary club at the Navarro hotel and explained steps the recent 78th congress took to keep the United States from involvement in the new European war.

Briefly, the three important moves made by congress, Mr. Johnson said, were cementing closer relations with the South American countries; voting more money for a rearmament program; and passage of the neutrality laws.

George Baum and John C. Calhoun had charge of today's program, and Mr. Calhoun introduced Mr. Johnson. Visitors today included Mr. Davis and Mrs. Armstrong of the State Board of Education; Rev. P. E. Riley, Rev. Tom Brabham, O. N. Buck of Austin; R. H. Harvey, P. Ashworth of Dallas; A. G. Elloss, W. P. McCammon, Mrs. Jack McKinney and little daughter, and Misses Anna Mays Slay and Alice Tatum. Misses Slay and Tatum gave a brief exhibition, and announced the pep rally in the near future.

O. L. Albritton, charter member of the club, was welcomed as returning to membership. He was introduced by Sidney Bryant.

Felt War Imminent
Mr. Johnson said that informed sources in Washington have felt for the past two or three years that an European war was imminent, and added that the foreign affairs committee had been "trying to put its house in order" so that the United States would be able to withstand the shock of war when it did come. The speaker added that a nation's participation in a war is usually determined by international law, but "we have passed neutrality laws as an added safeguard to keep the United States from involvement in laws that propose to keep our state of mind from becoming inflamed."

Parentetically, Mr. Johnson paid tribute to President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Cordell Hull for their exercise of "wisdom and caution befitting the great statesmen they are" to keep the United States out of war.

The first step taken by congress to insure peace, Mr. Johnson said, was the cementing of better relationships between the United States and the South American countries. He told of the social, political and economic contacts that had been made to bring these new world countries closer together.

Rearmament Program
The second step congress took to maintain peace, the speaker said, was to vote a huge sum of money for rearmament. He justified this act by stating that no sane man would have let the nation's defenses become obsolete in view of the world conditions as they were shaping up at that time.

The third step, Mr. Johnson explained, that congress took, was passage of the neutrality law. He said the 1937 law was partly permanent and partly temporary, and on May 1, 1939 the temporary portion, placing sale of all war goods on a "cash and carry" basis, expired. The three other portions of the law—prohibition of implements of war to any belligerent nation, prohibition of loans or credit to belligerents of war to any belligerent nation, and prohibition of United States citizens from traveling on belligerent ships—were retained.

Mr. Johnson told of the efforts of the administration to re-enact the "cash and carry" methods is fair to law, and of its failure to do so. He defended this way of handling the "cash and carry" method is fair to all nations, and treats all commodities alike.

MASTER OF ATHENIA DECLARES SHIP SUNK BY NAZI SUBMARINE

SUB TORPEDOED SHIP THEN ROSE TO SURFACE AND SHELLED VESSEL

GALWAY, Ireland, Sept. 5.—(P)—The master of the stricken British liner Athenia, sunk Sunday, said on his arrival here today his ship "was hit by a torpedo which went through the galley and into the engine room, causing heavy loss of life."

The captain, James Cook, was brought here by the Norwegian steamer Knut Nelson with 430 other survivors of the first submarine disaster of the European war.

Among them was Dr. John Kirk of Boston, Mass., who said, "My wife was killed in the explosion, and all I want to know now is whether my two children who were traveling with us are safe."

Captain Cook said immediately after the torpedo was fired, the submarine rose to the surface and shelled the Athenia.

"One shell carried away the main mast," he related. "It was evidently aimed at the wireless room but missed its mark."

He called witnesses to tell newspaper men that the torpedo was fired at a range of 800 to 1,000 yards on the port side of the vessel.

"One officer said he saw the periscope of the submarine just before the torpedo struck."

Captain Cook said he did not know how many were dead and injured.

The captain added, "there was no panic whatever on board the ship. The passengers faced danger bravely."

Ruth E. Strauss of New York said, "I saw a flash on the port side of the Athenia about 800 to 1,000 yards away. The torpedo struck in a few seconds and was followed by a shell. The ship was still afloat when we left the scene five hours later."

Coming thankfully ashore in this picturesque, rockbound port, ten of those seriously injured were taken to the Galway hospital.

After them came the rest, women and children wearing rough work clothes—loaned them by sailors aboard the Knut Nelson—over the scanty gear in which they escaped the stricken ship.

Worn by exposure and weak from lack of sleep and irregular diet, the first survivors all told the same story.

They were asleep when awakened by a terrific explosion which shook the ship and sent children in their berths sprawling onto cabin floors. They were ordered to abandon ship and take to the lifeboats.

Many Were Americans.
About 250 Americans were among those brought here. Many wore night clothes and blankets—60 hours after the disaster.

Members of the Knut Nelson's crew said many of the Athenia's passengers were killed when the ship's boiler exploded after the torpedo had struck.

At 10:16 a. m. of Austin, Texas, member of a party of 18 college girls who had been on vacation in Europe, said all her party was saved.

"We were just finishing dinner," she said, "when we felt a jolt and the ship was plunged into darkness. All of us jumped up on the tables. Then we went up on deck and slid down the ropes to the lifeboats."

"We were in the lifeboat only a few minutes when there was a flash and we felt something whiz past us, going in the direction of the liner. We were four hours in the lifeboat before help arrived. My hands are all blistered from rowing."

Gordon Hanson, member of the art department of the Boston Herald, bewailed the loss of pictures he had painted during a vacation in Norway.

"The Germans say it was sunk by a mine, do they?" he asked. "They are crazy. We saw smoke in the distance after the first torpedo was fired. Then the submarine fired a shell at the wireless rig but it fell short. After the torpedo hit the ship the third-class dining salon was flooded almost immediately."

Frost Teacher

Mr. Sybert did his first two years of college work in the agricultural college at Arlington, where he obtained a great deal of practical experience on the college farm by working to pay his expenses.

He also has a fine high school athletic record. He played basketball with the famous Dole, Sybert and Frieburger played basketball the semesters in the 1934 state meet. Sybert was also a track champion in Rains county for three years. He is also experienced in shop and mechanical work.

The freighter was expected to reach Halifax by Saturday.

At Greenock were Mrs. Arthur (Gladye) Strain of Dallas; Harry Bridge of Abilene; Mrs. Edith Bridge of Abilene; Mrs. Kate Hinds and William Hinds, both of Houston.

Sixteen of the group were Texas college students on a tour supervised by Mrs. Strain.

Another Texas girl, Mary Lee Humlung of San Angelo, at first thought to have been on the Athenia, was found to be a regular passenger on the City of Flint.

Judith Scott, of Chickasha, Okla., who attended school in Dallas was taken to Galway.

A vivid account of the disaster came from the 17-year-old bridge.

"I had gone up to the deck where I sat down near the stern. Suddenly there was a terrific explosion. Clouds of smoke arose from the sides of the ship and a huge spout of water jumped about 70 feet above the boat and came down into the lifeboats, half filling them."

"My friend Sheldon Gunn was going to join his airforce unit in Canada. He was thrown down the hatch. I never saw him again."

"I made my way along the companionway to get my lifebelt from my cabin. On the way I met my 19-year-old sister, Constance, and she gave me instructions where to meet her."

"When I reached my boat station I could not see her. Mother and I got into a boat and just as we were pulling off I saw Constance in another boat. Neither of us now knows where she is."

(Constance was picked up by the

CORSICANA, TEX., SEPT. 8, 1939
HITLER'S HEIRS

Very touching was the statement of Fuehrer Hitler in which he indicated the line of royal succession in Germany, in case anything happened to him in his patriotic job of shooting up Poland and annexing the rest of Europe.

If God in his wisdom sees fit to remove Hitler, the dictatorship then goes to Field Marshal Goering. If Goering passes on to Valhalla before Great Germany has achieved its manifest destiny, Deputy Rudolf Hess, political expert who runs the Nazi Party, will take up the torch and carry on. And there may be another and another until, as Hitler has prophesied, his Nazi Empire will last for 1,000 years, as Rome did.

But the onlooking world, or at least the part of it from which this present comment comes, is not greatly concerned with the Nazi Crown Prince and his successors. If that whole outfit of super-militarists now knicking Europe around were swept away—as it will be in God's own good time—we could bear it. And from what we lesser mortals can guess from the general situation, that time may come much sooner than the Nazi Caesars imagine.

Victor Hugo, telling about the elimination of Napoleon, the original European dictator, said simply that "God wearied of him." That fate may be expected for Hitler and all his gangster-statesmen. And the time may not be long.

ARGENTINE TREATY

Our government is reported as renewing its efforts to negotiate a general trade treaty with Argentina. Such a step is considered especially important because of recent developments in Europe. Washington is eager to strengthen the "political solidarity of the American continents."

Argentina, strongest and wealthiest of the South American states, has long been a hard nut for Uncle Sam to crack. The Argentines regard themselves as rivals of the "Yankees" and resent our aggressive-ness.

It would be a fine thing to bring these two strong powers, each dominating its own continent, into closer harmony and co-operation. Such an agreement would probably draw other South American countries into the All-American circle and help to keep political and economic mischief-makers out of this hemisphere.

One way to conciliate Argentina might be to recognize her claims to a large part of Antarctica, which is in her back yard. Our own competitive claims down there are probably worth less than Argentina's friendship.

The best fish story this summer comes from Frank Creasey of Oklahoma City. He caught in the Gulf of Mexico a fish that cried like a baby when he lifted it from the water, was a bright red and blue, and had eight legs, each with a light that could turn itself on and off. And he has a picture of it.

It's all right to have convictions and prejudices, but don't bet on next year's election this year.

This last Congress was, as usual, pretty good and pretty bad—like the rest of them.

WAR PRIZES

"These," said he, "are what we took
When our guns outnumbered theirs.
These the enemy forsook
When we caught them unaware."

"'Twas for these we fought and bled!
'Twas for these our bravest died.
Can you see our million dead
Near these trinkets of our pride?"

"Tattered flags and rusty guns
Carried home from fields afar
Where millions of our sons
Dead beneath the crosses are!"

"We no doubt shall fight again
In the trenches; on the seas;
Giving up a million men
For such trifles as these."

NORMAL BUSINESS.

Roger Babson says business is up to normal, and people who say it's terrible are suffering from a defeatist complex. Some of the other commentators thing Roger is kidding Pollyanna and is not to be taken seriously. The difficulties are with the word "normal" and with the temperaments of the commentators.

Some people think everything's fine if they have bread and tea and a bed to sleep in. Others think everything's terrible unless they can maintain three houses and a big yacht.

Business, actually, isn't quite so satisfactory as the optimists would have us think. But it's far from being so bad as the pessimists complain. It's better, on the whole, than last year, far better than in some of the years we'd rather forget, and it seems to be on a gradual way up.

But every fellow's business remains, as always in America, to a large extent in that fellow's own hands. If he thinks it's fairly good, and could be better, he will probably work to make it so. By doing his day's work thoroughly and well, he helps all business. By skipping, he gyps all business. No man stands alone. If all men work with a will to make things better, the forces of depression will have to give way. If they all lie down and wail, they will get what they expect and deserve.

There is still a vast reservoir of unemployed. Many of them may never get work again. This group must somehow be cared for on a fairly permanent basis. Foresight must be exercised to prevent the creation of a new idle group.

Meanwhile business is sitting up today, thank you, feeling better and clamoring for nourishment.

MISINFORMED

John Gunther says that Hitler is misinformed about the European situation and that his lack of knowledge has been one of the causes of the present unrest.

This may well be true. When Karl Burckhardt tried to give him information a week or so ago as to the status of various nations, Hitler would not listen. Burckhardt stayed about half an hour during which time Hitler talked constantly and gave his would-be informant no chance for a word in edgewise.

None are so blind as those who will not see. Hitler is said to shout down all sound counselors who would help him to understand the world as it is, who try to give him information and sensible advice. He has himself to thank for misinformation.

The same blindness may prove more dangerous in future dealing with Russia than is now apparent.

Another suggestion to war: Let heads of all important governments gather at a round table in complete privacy and take turns talking for three months. Then when they get back home they may find that peace has broken out.

The trouble with real estate these last few years has been the change in buying methods. People only wanted to buy from the sheriff.

THE DAILY GRIND IN EUROPE

UP TO TVA

Mr. Wendell Wilkie of Commonwealth and Southern got himself into a controversial spot by his advertising of the sale of his utilities to TVA. There are people who think he's quite right and the "government subsidy" of TVA is a dangerous thing. There are others who think Commonwealth and Southern got plenty for its holdings and that Mr. Wilkie's ads contained nasty cracks which, after the sale was made and the shooting was over, were unsportsmanlike to a high degree.

Whether either of these points of view is right, or any of the several others floating around in the air, this fact remains: The whole situation is now up to TVA. If the establishment of such a power authority over a whole district covering several states is dangerous and destructive, that fact should soon appear. If, on the contrary, TVA is one of the most beneficent establishments ever undertaken, one of the most foresighted and useful for the whole American people, that fact should appear after a time emerge from the welter of conflicting opinion.

The engineers are doing an excellent engineering job, without regard to the political aspect, and those in charge believe the project is already beginning to pay for itself.

The TVA may be a yardstick of more things than the cost of electric power. It will be watched from now on with ever increasing interest.

NO SUPER-HIGHWAY SYSTEM

The federal Bureau of Public Roads, after assembling all available facts, is reported as unimpressed by the propaganda for a gridiron of super-highways covering the country. Only a small part of our present highway traffic would use them, it reports. There would be little north-and-south traffic on them.

The building cost for 14,000 miles of such roads would be nearly $3,000,000,000 and the estimated tolls for the six roads planned would be about $100,000,000 a year less than the estimated cost of maintenance.

So bang goes another dream! Fortunately there are, generally speaking, enough good roads now, in about the right places, for Americans to get around without much trouble.

FEAR

FEAR is the greatest enemy of mankind. It is a poison that affects the entire physical being. One of the most useful and constructive functions of medical science is to combat FEAR, as far as possible. In training children, modern methods stress that everything put into a child's mind to instill FEAR is harmful to mental and physical development. Parents should cultivate confidence and fearlessness in every sense. However, the fears of "phobias" of grown-ups are just as harmful and nerve-wracking as those of childhood. The man who lives with the fear of failure, losing his job, money, reverse, disease, of being discovered in some situation—sooner or later will pay physical toll.

A famous specialist on nerve diseases once said that "a contented man does not drink—he does not need to escape his fears." Whether or not that is true, the average physician can testify that fear is one of the most potent factors he has to combat in high blood-pressure, nervousness, and many other physical ailments. Your physician can help you to overcome many of your "phobias" or FEARS, if you will give him the opportunity. Keep up your mental health as well as your physical well-being.

Superintendent W. H. ## BRITAIN REPULSES FIRST GERMAN AIR RAID ON ENGLAND

ANTI-AIRCRAFT BATTERIES AND FIGHTING PLANES DRIVE RAIDERS AWAY

LONDON, Sept. 6.—(P)—The first enemy air force to invade England since the war started was fought off today by British anti-aircraft guns and defending planes in an early morning combat which halted normal activity in the world's largest city 1-2 hours.

No bombs were dropped and the ministry of information said the invaders apparently did not "penetrate our defenses at any point." They were attempting to raid the East Coast, but anti-aircraft batteries stationed there opened up with a terrific din. Puffs of smoke filled the sky.

Squadrons of British fighters went aloft and the sound of machine gun fire could be heard. No aerial combats could be seen from the ground, however.

The first air raid attempt on Britain came at about 6:40 a. m. (11:40 p. m. CST) but the German bombers were driven off, it was announced, before any bombs could be dropped.

The "all clear" signal was sounded at 9:05 a. m. (2:05 a. m. CST). Apparently no raiders came on the Essex side of the English river.

Gunfire was heard in the distance up to 8:10 a. m. (1:10 a. m. CST).

Shortly after the alarm terrific anti-aircraft firing started along the east coast and it was presumed an enemy raid was being made.

Squadrons of British fighters passed over the towns, and the sound of machine gun fire could be plainly heard. No raiding planes could be seen here, but they sky was filled with smoke from bursting shells.

The alarm was the third in London since war was declared. There was no sign of panic as passengers, with gas masks slung over their shoulders, left the buses and cars for places of safety. Inside the raiders were driven off, it was said cheerfully and discussed the war news of the day.

The ministry announced: "We are officially informed that enemy aircraft were reported near the east coast of England this morning."

The ministry added: "So far as is known, they did not penetrate our defenses at any point and no damage has been reported."

The announcement followed a morning air raid alarm which sent early rising Londoners who were on their way to work running to shelters.

No enemy planes were seen over London.

Planes Driven Off.

Firing from anti-aircraft guns was heard some 20 minutes after the alarm had been sounded in the east coast area.

The sound of heavy engines was heard and the planes apparently were driven off.

Twenty minutes later the sound of engines was heard again and several shots were fired.

The ministry of information announced further reconnaissance was carried out by aircraft of the Royal Air Force over Germany in the night of Sept. 5-6. The planes, in their third flight over Germany, dropped "a note to the German people." In two previous mass flights British planes answered Germany with millions of copies of messages to the German people.

"Our aircraft was not engaged by enemy fighters and, as on two previous occasions, they all returned safely," the ministry said.

R. A. Butler, undersecretary for foreign affairs, said in the houses of commons German bombings in Poland "have been generally directed against objectives serving some military purpose and not indiscriminately against the civil population."

He said there had been many civilian casualties, nevertheless.

Butler also said the government had no official reports the Germans were using gas, "but we have read in the press that gas bombs have been used."

REVIVAL OF RELIGION PUT LIFE INTO MENACED NATION*

When the Old King Died, a Victim of His Own Egotism, a Prophet Had a Vision, Which Made Him Mightier Than Any Ruler—The Preacher's Place in the Present Crisis.

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS

"Save your newspapers!" cried President Garfield to a New York audience in a crisis time. In like mood, we may remind ourselves today to read the history books. There is light for the present from the past. The current national crises which engross the interest of all thoughtful persons are not without precedent. The experience of the ages is an open book for anybody who will take the trouble to read. In fact, one does not need to go outside of the Bible for counsel-crowded national experiences.

Our present-day slump in organized religion; and our insidious idolatries, had analogies in good King Hezekiah's day, as devastating as the fear of an Assyrian invasion; or as our dread of international involvements. The people had fallen again into the worship of idols, forgetting the God of their fathers; just as we have become idolaters of pleasure of money, of "success," and of small partisanships. The present lesson of their history, as of ours, which was a striking instance of the peculiar providence of God, had become dimmed beneath personal and national sins.

A King to the Rescue

Good King Hezekiah, with the Prophet Isaiah at his right hand as counselor, came to the throne in these troubled times, at the age of twenty-five years; and his reign lasted for twenty-nine years. Then, as now, "crisis" was the word of the day. The northern kingdom had been carried into Assyrian captivity, and Sennacherib was hammering at the gates of Jerusalem, having captured many lesser cities.

There was a deal of the real statesman in Hezekiah, though he made some blunders. He tried appeasement with the Assyrians, and paid heavy tribute. Then he fell back on the basic traditions of his people, and put his reliance in the Lord who had delivered the children of Israel from Egypt.

When the siege of Jerusalem became imminent, he performed that incomprehensible engineering feat which is today one of the wonders of Jerusalem—the tunnel which carried the water from the city's own spring outside the walls (which he shut up and concealed from the invaders) through the solid rock to the Pool of Siloam. Modern engineers cannot explain how this work was accomplished.

Leaders Who Lead

Modern politicians are experts at following what they believe to be the popular mood. They let "pressure groups" determine legislation. The extreme of this fashion is the manner in which community officials allow themselves to be controlled by the criminal element. Their own personal contacts are with the lower order of the population; they have no intimate relationship with the home-keeping, God-fearing people who are the real public; and so they yield to the demands of the basest—usually at a price.

Now the first business of leaders is to lead. The king, "the man who can," in Hezekiah's day, he exercised his proper role of leadership. He was king in fact, as well as in name. So, being wise and well-advised, he undertook a fundamental reform in Judah's life, the re-establishment of religion in first place.

Most men in high places give lip-service to religion; but they seldom do anything practical about it. We do not hear of high government officials taking counsel with the real leaders of religion. They do not recognize churchmen in their appointments; it has been many a long day for instance, since either Great Britain or the United States has seen a sympathetic layman to be its minister in a mission land.

Are Revivals "Practical?"

Our lesson deals with that phase of Hezekiah's reign when he called the people back to a national observance of their great historic feast, the Passover. He did a thorough job of it, in contrast with the occasional patronizing remarks concerning religion from our modern rulers. The latter are scarcely aware of the deep-flowing tides of spiritual concern abroad in the land. There are more pious folk than of the other kind. The big crowd are the Christian crowd. The public always responds to great religious leadership.

Hezekiah made ready by a thorough housecleaning of the temple—righteousness must begin at the house of God—and by tightening up the laxity of the Levites. He sent a proclamation throughout all the Promised Land, from Dan to Beersheba, including the degenerate remnant that dwelt in the Northern Kingdom, bidding the people prepare themselves for a great Passover celebration at the temple in Jerusalem. Broad-mindedly he winked at certain irregularities in time, duration and ceremonial readiness of the festival and its participants. But the spirit of the memorial feast was definitely revived.

As no purely political measures could have done, this celebration, which was a genuine revival of religion, made the people ready, in new solidarity and quickened national ideals, for the impending crisis. The most "practical" measure of reform that could come to any community today would be a spiritual awakening. As Billy Sunday's biographer, I had to record a long tale of individuals and cities changed by his preaching; debts paid, business put on a brotherly basis, old and dropped families purified and made peaceful and prosperous; drunkards and rakes reclaimed; and a new and nobler purpose put into whole communities. Always the church can change the common lot when she puts her heart into it.

A Good Time For All

Worldly folk often discount the real delight that there is in domestic joys and spiritual experiences. They would see no happiness in a great religious festival, such as Hezekiah's Passover.

Nevertheless, the people enjoyed it so much that they prolonged the length of the celebration twofold. And they had a good time wrecking the heathen idols and the paraphernalia and chucking the debris into the brook Kedron. And the fellowship they shared, the new sense of fraternity and national unity, were an uplift to life. Best of all was the deep sense of reconciliation with their fathers' God.

This was the best of preparation for the Assyrian ordeal which lay ahead of the nation. The Lesson story is a vivid illustration of the sort of spiritual preparedness that the world needs today.

The Powell Methodist and Baptist Women's Sunday School class held its regular monthly business session Monday, September 4, at the church with the president, Mrs. Morgan Lowe, presiding.

GERMANS RETIRE INTO MAIN SIEGFRIED LINE FORTS OF WEST FRONT

FRENCH ADVANCE CAUTIOUSLY IN GERMAN TERRITORY; BIG DRIVE SOON

By CHARLES FOLTZ, Jr.
BASEL, Switzerland, (Near the French, German and Swiss Frontiers) Sept. 7.—(AP)—The advance guards on the western front were said to be withdrawing slowly into the main forts of their Siegfried line as smoothly-operating French troops pushed into German territory.

The French were reported advancing as much as 15 kilometers (9 1/2 miles) in some places along the northern wing of this line. However, they moved cautiously, knowing the German fortifications as well as their own Maginot line, contained scores of inviting spots where an unobstructed advance would lead attackers into death traps under the cross-fire of forts.

Veteran French troops were reported as seizing first line German pill boxes. One of the first to fall to France, reports here said, was in the Saar region, opposite the French town of Saarguemines.

Most foreign military observers in Switzerland expressed belief it would be at least a week before the French could complete their first careful advance through the pill box outposts and launch a drive on the main German line.

German forces, dispatches indicated, have been ordered merely to put up a defense and keep off French territory in case French troops would be spent against the Siegfried line.

Ignoring French planes, which were reported as flying over German territory only as cover for troop movements, German aviators were said to have been instructed to concentrate on blocking propaganda bombardments by the British. They planned to give the next British propaganda bombers a welcome.

Basel's French and German frontiers were closed to everyone but Swiss refugees.

Germans and French alike concentrated on the removal of citizens from towns along the fortified lines.

Japan Declares Will Remain Out Of European War

LONDON, Sept. 7.—(AP)—The ministry of information announced today Japan has informed Britain she "does not intend to be involved" in Europe's war.

The ministry said a communication has been made to the Japanese ambassador at Tokyo to the effect that the Japanese government does not intend to be involved in the war which has broken out in Europe.

"They requested that His Majesty's government should refrain from taking any measures such as might prejudice Japan's position in regard to China."

The communication from Japan was the first official notification of Japan's neutrality in the European war, and served to spike reports of a possible new military axis involving Germany, Italy, Russia and Japan.

Observers believed it indicated the German-Soviet non-aggression pact had driven a lasting wedge between Britain and the Japanese.

(The Japanese vice-minister for foreign affairs on Tuesday notified the American, British and German governments that Japan's policy was to remain neutral.)

MARKETS

$54; Kennecott $43.87; Douglas Aircraft $70.50 and United Aircraft $40.80.

Caught in the late price let-down for small losses, though up most of the time were U. S. Steel at $44.38; Bethlehem Steel at $38.50; U. S. Rubber $44.25 and General Electric $38.75.

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—(AP)—The stock market breezed through a brisk opening today with prices on an upward trend.

A mild rally, which got under way after the decks were cleared of overnight orders, and added as much as 1/2 point to the quotations of some leading issues did not hold well. Many gains were lost or sharply pared by the end of the first hour.

The record volume and heavy selling pressure on U. S. Government Bonds yesterday was absent at the start today. Outside losses in federal obligations ran to around $2.50 per $1,000 bond. Many were unchanged.

The cotton futures market opened mixed, but barely changed from previous closes. Rubber contracts were lower.

At Chicago, grain futures trading started erratically. Various wheat deliveries ran around a cent a bushel up and down from last night's closing prices, with one delivery down more than 2 cents.

After a delayed opening, sugar futures started as much as 1/4 cent higher, the permissible limit.

Hide futures contracts were active and moderately advanced and spot delivery price was lifted 3 cents a pound as tanners bought 10,000 hides.

GRAIN Resume Advance
CHICAGO, Sept. 7.—(AP)—After a temporary relapse due to heavy taking of profits, the war boom in grains was resumed today.

Wheat tumbled 4 1/2 cents, corn 4 1/2 cents and soybeans 1/2 cent in opening rush to sell when millions of bushels had changed hands with owners accepting handsome profits. The market tightened again.

Wheat shot up 6 to 8 cents a bushel from early low to the best level since March, 1938, September and December contracts selling around 80 cents. Corn rose 1/2 cent to 40 cents, and soybeans 1/2 cent to 24 cents.

September and December deliveries highest in more than a year. Although reacting slightly from peak prices, wheat closed 1/2 cent higher, September 80 1/2-80 3/4, corn 40 1/2-40 3/4, soybeans 24 1/2-24 3/4.

Grain futures trading in New York closed the grain pits as a result of the breaking of a market stalemate.

CANADA PREPARES FOR OWN DEFENSE AND AID BRITAIN

EMERGENCY SESSION PARLIAMENT ADDRESSED BY GOVERNOR GENERAL

OTTAWA, Sept. 7.—(Canadian Press)—Lord Tweedsmuir, governor-general of Canada, addressed an emergency session of parliament today to take measures for defense of the dominion and co-operation with Britain, at war with Germany.

"You will be asked," he said in his speech opening the session, "to consider estimates to provide for expenditure which has been or may be caused by the state of war which has been caused by the state of war which now exists."

Members of both houses were told they had been called that the government might seek authority for the measures necessary for defense of Canada and for co-operation in the determined effort which is being made to resist further aggression.

"My ministers are convinced," he said, "that Canada is prepared to unite in a national effort to defend to the utmost liberties and institutions which are a common heritage."

Observers predicted a war budget such as was voted at the special session in 1914.

The program for today was short—mostly formally—with voting on the war measures to come on later days.

Returning legislators found the capital changed from the holiday mood it was in when the regular session ended last June.

Then King George and Queen Elizabeth were seen completing their tour of the dominion.

Today Ottawa was garbing herself for war.

Soviets Financed Communist Party's First Activities

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Benjamin Gitlow, former general secretary of the communist party in the United States, told the Dies committee today the party's early activities had been subsidized by diamonds and jewelry from Moscow.

Gitlow, who referred to Joseph Stalin as the first two branches of the party were formed in 1919.

Since then, he said, "Moscow, through the communist international, has been supporting party activities and has been sending to this country to support the communist party, to finance trips of trade union leaders to Moscow and to finance the organization of a party in Latin America, he declared.

Earl Browder, present general secretary of the party in this country, testified yesterday that to his knowledge, Gitlow told the committee no subsidies or contributions from a foreign country since he took office in 1930.

FRENCH

On that day, the announcement said, Maj. Gen. Sir Edmund Ironside, chief of the British imperial general staff, and Air Chief Marshal Sir Cyril Newall, commander of the British air force, conferred with Gen. Maurice Gamelin, French supreme commander of land, sea and air forces, and Gen. Joseph Veuillemin, chief of staff of the French air force.

General Gamelin is slated to be generalissimo of the allied armies.

Plans War Cabinet. Premier Daladier meanwhile set about building a national union cabinet to prosecute the war.

A personal call to him said the makeup of the war government would be announced in a day or two.

The military campaign remained in the preliminary stage, with the "no man's land" between France's Maginot line and Germany's Siegfried line as the main theater of action.

The Rhine and the Moselle, was the target of the French.

The best summary of action yet available said French troops, under cover of several hours artillery preparation, began the war Monday by occupying the ground between the Maginot line and the frontier. Tuesday night they penetrated into German territory at several points.

Yesterday French forces cleaned out several German "pockets" and machine-gun nests to gain a foothold for further thrusts into the enemy fortifications.

Spearsheads Depths Vary. The depth of these spearheads varied but they were said to be scattered all along a 100-mile front.

The French strategy is understood to be aimed at breaking through the Siegfried line to permit smashing flank attacks.

About 11 a. m. (4 m. CST) the war ministry in its communique No. 7, reported "marked activity on both sides" at the front.

British force was disclosed by government sources early today. The size of the unit, whose arrival recalled the first landing of British troops in France Aug. 10, 1914, was not given.

But it was the vanguard of an army that, government sources predicted, could give France "millions of men" under British command, thus contributing "indefinitely stronger" support than in 1914.

Military observers said Britain had 100,000 troops available for rapid transportation to France when the war broke out Sunday.

The government indicated the crossing of the British force was accomplished without difficulty.

British Air Units Arrive. Landing of the British air force units which are now operating with the French from French air bases and are direct-acting raids in the Ruhr and Aachen (Aix-la-Chapelle) industrial districts in Germany opposite the Belgian frontier.

The British dispatch of troops was far swifter than in 1914, when German forces were already overrunning France and Belgium before they arrived. Today the French staff said their army was fighting on German soil in a varying line between the Luxembourg border and Lauterbourg, situated on the easternmost tip of the Bas Rhin department jutting into Germany.

Lauterbourg is known as the "Maginot line" since the line from the Rhine and Moselle rivers and fanned out slowly over the rugged countryside south east of the Ardennes mountains.

Despite the difficulties of the rough, forested and hilly terrain through which they were operating against prepared Nazi positions, a French general staff communique said last night, the troops were pushing forward on to German soil.

The chief fighting developed yesterday along a 100-mile front between the Rhine and Moselle rivers and fanned out slowly over the rugged countryside south east of the Ardennes mountains.

WAR BRIEFS

Submarines Reported in Gulf. NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 7.—(AP)—The commanders' office of the United States coast guard headquarters here today said there was "absolutely no comment" on a report from Mobile that three submarines had been sighted in the Gulf of Mexico near Mobile.

The Mobile report added it was understood coast guard planes had been sent out to search for the reported undersea craft, but there could not be obtained any information of this here.

Turk President Sees Soviet. ANKARA, Turkey, Sept. 7.—(AP)—President Ismet Inonu today received the Soviet Ambassador, A. V. Litvinov. Political quarters attached great importance to the meeting.

Grace Moore to Drive Ambulance. NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Grace Moore, operatic and movie star, and her husband, Valentin Pavea, arrived from Europe today to drive an ambulance to France as ambulance drivers.

Said Miss Moore: "I owe much of my success to France."

Hitler Hanged in Effigy. SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Germany's Adolf Hitler was hanged in effigy on Auditorium Plaza, scene of the recent riot against a communist meeting, last night.

Policeman George Martin was dispatched to the Plaza at 1 o'clock this morning when a three-way automobile collision was reported there.

He was unable to find any wreck but found the dummy of Hitler, hanging by a wire from a light post. The dummy was covered with swastikas and hanging from the dummy's neck, was a sign which said "Down With Hitler."

Queen Mary Camouflaged. NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—(AP)—A woman worker daubed gray camouflage paint over red and black stacks of the British Queen Mary today, giving rise to a belief she is being readied for a dash through the submarine-infested Atlantic to home port.

Officials of the Cunard White Star line said the world's largest ship is not scheduled to sail, but added the Queen Mary was under direct orders of the British admiralty. They said they did not know what was planned.

US Liner Aids Ship. NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—(AP)—The United States Lines today received a radio from the Washington which sailed from New York Saturday that she was proceeding to the assistance of the "Olive Grove" presumably in the vicinity of the English channel.

Washington battles lines said the "Olive Grove" was near the channel by this time.

Lloyd's register gives the Olive Grove as owned by the Grove line of Glasgow with its home port as Glasgow.

The register said it was a 4,060 tonnage craft built in 1929.

N. M. U. to Prevent Sailing. WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—(AP)—A spokesman for the National Maritime Union said today the union would prevent the sailing of the S. S. Manhattan "until the government stipulates what are war zone areas."

Stephen Harvey, legislative agent for the N. M. U., said so far, the state department and the maritime commission had refused to delimit such areas, a preliminary for such action.

The union has asked $250 per sailor per trip as a bonus for entering danger zones.

GERMANY

one gained the impression German strategy had created three big vias closing in on the Poles.

First, Foxman was encircled so that it now is held by gigantic pincers which cut it off from Gdynia and the south.

Only Planes Attack Warsaw. No direct attack except by bombers, concentrating on military objectives, is being made on Warsaw, but again German troops are trying to create a vise in which they can hold the capital.

The strategy seems to be to cut each of these centers off from all supplies, then press the jaws of the vise closer and closer in the hope of making the enemy capitulate without making necessary too much destruction.

Krakow also seems to have fallen on by these tactics. Not even the Vistula bridges were destroyed before Krakow was taken.

The German naval supreme command, once again in the most emphatic terms, denied any German craft had anything to do with the sinking of the British liner Athenia.

At Duesseldorf and Cologne, returning travelers report, there were swastikas and hanging from the dummy's neck, was a sign which said "Down With Hitler."

Hitler Soldier's Soldier. With Adolf Hitler's held up before them as a soldier's soldier, German troops were spurred to ward swift conclusion of the Polish campaign before any British-French offensive could develop on the western front.

The German big guns were being dragged eastward by caterpillar trucks over the rough Polish roads.

The supreme army command announced its force from the north had reached Pultusk on the Narva river and that the Polish army continued a hurried retreat.

The commune said the "Ninth and 27th Polish Divisions" the famous Pomorska Cavalry Brigade, the Eighth Tank Battalion and the First and Second Rifle Battalions had been completely wiped out by casualties or capture.

Col. Gen. Walther von Brauchitsch, German chief of staff, in an order of the day urged the Nazi forces to emulate their leader as a soldier's model of personal courage and stout determination and to "keep after the enemy and apply all your strength until the final decision."

Krakow, Bydgoszcz and Grudziadz are in your hands," said the order of the day.

Many Prisoners Taken. Fifteen thousand prisoners were said to have been taken in the Grudziadz-Tuchola sector, along with a vast amount of war materials. The Polish rout in the corridor was characterized as "indescribable confusion."

Military authorities said Polish operations were well ahead of schedule. Von Brauchitsch and other leaders warned more difficult assignments probably lie ahead.

The inference probably was that after Poland, the German army might have to come to grips with Britain—German propaganda is emphasizing Britain as Germany's foe in the west more than France.

Otherwise there was little indication Germany regards herself as at war with Britain or France. Official radio announcers were referring to Britain as "the country which thinks it is at war with Germany."

Air Force Be Released Soon. It was expected the air force could be released soon from its assignment in the east. Official reports said 18 more Polish planes were destroyed yesterday in 12 air battles. Germans asserted control of the air was complete and they ridiculed reports that even a single enemy plane had approached anywhere near Berlin.

The capital, taking no chances, was ordering blackouts so complete that walking even a block in well-informed quarters to be a matter of great difficulty.

There was a marked disposition in well-informed quarters to be pessimistic about the war.

German propaganda was assuring Frenchmen and the world that Germany understands that France was dragged into declaration of a state of war.

Hourly the radio challenged Britain to produce concrete proof that the liner Athenia was sunk by a German submarine. DNE, official news agency, charged that "the Athenia was torpedoed on orders of the British propaganda service in hope it would create another incident with an effect on American opinion like the sinking of the Lusitania."

German Youth Beheaded. BERLIN, Sept. 7.—(AP)—A 23-year-old resident of Stammheim, Hermann Weisser, was beheaded today for stealing shell parts which he tried to sell to a foreign power.

ARTILLERY FIRE STILL ECHOING IN STREETS OF DANZIG

By LYNN HEINZELING
RIGA, Latvia, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Although the former Free City of Danzig has been reunited with the German Reich since last Friday, artillery fire still was echoing through the city's streets when I left there.

Outside, on the edge of Danzig Bay, a determined garrison of what the Germans estimated could be no more than 100 men continued to hold the Polish munitions depot of Westerplatte late Tuesday.

Though machine-guns and small arms are believed to be their only armament, they have held out amid the wreckage of the depot against bombardment from the air, shell fire from the Cruiser Scherwag-Holstein which opened the war's hostilities at 4:40 a. m. on Sept. 1, and landing parties sent from the cruiser.

Under strict supervision of the German army, (censor, police) and civilian authorities, complete censorship and rationing of foodstuffs and other necessities have been put into effect; free travel is prohibited, with foreigners needing the Gestapo's sanction before being able to leave, and export and import business is at a standstill.

All this, combined with the Polish stand at Westerplatte, has tended to take the edge off the enthusiasm with which Danzigers hailed Albert Forster's announcement of their return to the Reich last Friday.

Everybody Is Getting Ready For An Early Fall Business

Every effort will be exerted by the Corsicana Merchants to make 1939 the Best Year Since 1929.

1939 will be the Tenth Anniversary since 1929, which was the peak year we All remember so well.

Since 1929—We have had many changes and experiences that have made us wiser and more prepared to combat unfavorable obstacles and forge ahead for better times..

During the past ten years we have been waiting for something to happen to bring about better times without doing anything ourselves to help bring back the days of 1929.

Yes, we have been too much interested in what the "blood thirsty" war mongers "over there" are doing rather than attending to our own business, and getting into the game at home to bring back the good old days we used to have. It's just a matter of our own interest in our own affairs—that's all.

After waiting so long on the sidelines looking on we have at last made up our minds that the "way to resume is to resume" and that's why everybody is getting busy at home to prepare for one of the best seasons we have had for the past ten years.

Everything around us looks good, and all that is needed to get our share of the prosperity is to exert more energy and initiative in our own affairs. We have at last realized that nothing can be accomplished by waiting, and that nothing is going to happen in our favor if we do not roll up our own sleeves and go to work.

There has been more building here since January 1st than any similar period within the past ten years. There have been more substantial improvements in the business section than we have had in over ten years.

There have been more expansions in business than we have enjoyed within the past ten years, with rural electrification being installed rapidly.

There have been more new homes built in Corsicana this year than any year since 1929, with more to be built. This all goes to show that Corsicana is a permanent and solid place in which to live and enjoy life.

There are fewer vacant business houses here now than since 1929. There are only nine vacant buildings in the city at this time, as compared with seventy-nine in 1932. Of these nine vacant buildings, there are some that are not attractive and for this reason they are not rented.

There have been more new lines of business opened here since 1929, with the names of new concerns, new store fronts, new inside decorations, and such like, all of which is the best demonstration that Corsicana is a substantial trading center of Central Texas.

With its vast network of hard surfaced highways Corsicana holds an important position in retail and wholesale business.

The strategic location of Corsicana in such a prosperous trading area is constantly attracting new comers.

The healthy and growing programs of our financial institutions are the best indications that there is plenty of money in our midst, with the financial morale of the community better than it has been since 1929.

We have already made the largest feed crop in the history of this section for the past twenty-five years, with about one million dollars in federal cotton checks coming in.

We have now in the making one of the largest cotton crops since 1929, considering the government control, the estimated crop for 1939 being over 65,000 bales for the county, with over 200,000 bales from the Corsicana area. Other industry is active, and payrolls are gradually getting larger.

All of these real conditions confronting us behooves every wide-awake citizen to take advantage of the many opportunities knocking at our door.

Remember the old saying "time waits for no one," and that applies to each and every one alike.

If we do not take advantage of the present opportunities to prepare for the future we will have no one to blame but ourselves.

It is time to go to work and quit loafing, bluffing, and waiting on the sidelines for something to happen in our favor—for its just not going to happen that way—it's up to us to make these things happen.

The Home Town Newspapers are ready to assist in any of your plans for a good season—for we stand ready and willing to lend full assistance in carrying your store and business news to a busy and prosperous section of Central Texas that is covered completely by these newspapers.

The Home Town Newspapers are the only newspapers published in Corsicana, and the only newspapers published in a Unionized shop in this section of Central Texas.

For immediate coverage of your trading area use these newspapers in your business plans.

By using them you not only cover your trading area completely but you can see with your own eyes what you are getting, and what you are saving in your advertising costs.

It is good business to concentrate your advertising in these newspapers that are thoroughly established in the community and have built up prestige for faithful services rendered.

They are faithful assets and have been put to the test many times—they are legitimate advertising mediums of recognized accomplishments—they are not fly by night agencies that seek the dollar under the guise of advertising schemes.

The services of these newspapers speak for themselves—Public Intelligence is Their Best Backing.

PRESIDENT MOVES TO ENLARGE CABINET DURING EMERGENCY

GOVERNMENT MOVES SWIFTLY TO CRUSH ACTIVITIES OF FOREIGN SPIES

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—(AP)—President Roosevelt today enlarged his cabinet "for the duration of the emergency," to include the administrations of loans, works and security.

At the same time the government moved swiftly to crush activities of foreign spies within the nation's borders, while an augmented naval and coast guard fleet stemmed the Atlantic seaboard to protect American shipping.

Enlargement of the cabinet was announced in connection with a cabinet meeting called for today instead of tomorrow.

In addition to the regular 10 cabinet members, those invited to this afternoon's session were Paul V. McNutt, security administrator; Jesse H. Jones, loan administrator; and John M. Carmody, works administrator.

Stephen Early, White House press secretary, said the president had "no immediate plans" for calling congress into special session to revise the neutrality act and for the present would study and explore the operation of the arms embargo and determine the extent of his present powers.

In another move connected with the war situation in Europe, Secretary Morgenthau completed his emergency advisory council with appointment of three economists.

The three are Prof. Jacob Viner of the University of Chicago, and Walter W. Stewart and Winfield W. Riefler, both of the Institute for advanced study at Princeton, N. J.

Early also asserted the White House was receiving many "kick-backs" on the rise in food prices and all of these were being sent to Attorney General Murphy and Secretary of Agriculture Wallace.

Investigating Complaints Wallace announced yesterday his department was investigating such complaints.

Murphy told newsmen the justice department has been at work on anti-profiteering measure since last week. He declined further comment.

Secretary Tokes of the Interior gave his opinion there was no legitimate reason for the current price increases.

"We are not at war and we have large available supplies," Tokes told a press conference, adding he feared it was a recurrence of "profiteering" such as that which preceded this country's entry into the first world war.

The president, bolstering the United States neutrality ordered a "comprehensive and effective" drive against espionage, sabotage and neutrality violations.

The federal bureau of investigation will direct it.

The treasury reorganized its personnel divisions handling neutrality and other enforcement work. It dispatched four coast guard cutters from the west coast to assist two destroyers and as many coast guard vessels ordered into the North Atlantic yesterday to patrol the eastern coast line.

The president's order to forget out spies came late yesterday. Attorney General Murphy, in a separate statement issued earlier, said:

"There will be no repetition of the confusion and laxity of 20 years ago which caused havoc. At the same time we do not want to turn our activity into a witch hunt."

The Panama Canal Zone, meanwhile, was placed under military rule, a step taken previously only during the world war.

Secretary Woodring said the order followed long-standing plans for the security of the canal during times of international tension.

The new coast patrol will extend several hundred miles out to sea and eventually will cover the shore line from New England to the Caribbean and Panama Canal.

Airplanes also will be utilized. The patrol will furnish the government information on the presence of belligerent craft in waters adjacent to the United States so that shipping in the vicinity may be warned.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—(AP)—President Roosevelt issued a regulation today making possible the continuance of ordinary commercial credits and short-time obligations to belligerents.

The Chief Executive specified these credits and obligations must be "in aid of legal transactions and of a character customarily used in normal peace-time commercial transactions."

Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau was authorized to administer the provisions of the order and to promulgate rules and regulations necessary for carrying out them.

The President cited section 3 of the neutrality act which prohibits loans to belligerents but makes an exception of the credits and obligations mentioned, if the President so desires.

Housewives Are Complaining At Rising Prices

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Housewives of the United States today felt the European war in rising prices of food.

They complained, and mayors, state and national officials, rushed to promise protection against "profiteering," "hoarding," and "speculation raising the price in necessities."

Some wholesalers and store executives, however, said the price rises had been caused by the housewives themselves—a sudden rush to buy more than normal requirements because of the fear of price increases.

Seaworthy reported long lines of housewives waiting to buy, and a temporary shortage in some staples, especially sugar.

There is nothing in the immediate picture, several generalists say, to warrant any big increases in the prices of staple goods. There is plenty of food in the country, and more; plenty of clothes, shoes, and the raw materials from which they are made.

Generally, prices of clothing and shoes were unchanged, although wholesalers predicted eventual advances, in view of price increases in wool and hides.

Meat, poultry and lard were other items that generally rose in price up to as much as 50 percent. Rationing was practiced by merchants in some cities, because of the exceptional demand.

Meanwhile, some financial and industrial leaders here said they understood President Roosevelt was seriously studying some means of maximum price fixing.

Profiteering Condemned. SACRAMENTO, Calif., Sept. 7.—(AP)—State officials, facing budget-shattering increases in prices of sugar and flour for state institutions, lashed out against "inexcusable profiteering."

Phil S. Gibson, director of finance, said in a press conference today price increases, particularly in wheat, constituted an "unpatriotic move."

The state purchasing department found the new prices were $13,000 more for sugar and flour alone.

FOOTBALL COACHES CIVITAN SPEAKERS THURSDAY MEETING

Johnny Pierce, head coach of the Corsicana Tigers, and Johnny Hall, former TCU star and present backfield coach for the Tigers, made the principal addresses at the bi-monthly meeting of the Civitan club at the Navarro Hotel.

Peggy Gordon and Jennie Ree Hayes, attired in the new pep squad uniforms, gave an exhibition of the basketball. Visitors today included Dr. J. L. Hollingsworth and Ross Smith, of Rogers, Texas. Dr. H. A. Juergeman and L. W. Ransom had charge of today's program. Mr. Ransom introduced Johnny Pierce who commented on the training progress of the Tigers and then introduced Mr. Hall.

Mr. Pierce expressed the opinion that Corsicana was beating her way back to the gridiron glory of former years. He attributed the slump in the Tigers' winning streak in recent years to the fact that Corsicana had lost its best players to the training prospective players in the grade schools.

The speaker outlined the strength of various positions of the 1939 team and stated that in the position lacking reserves he had capable men that could go sixty minutes if necessary.

Mr. Hall gave a brief account of the all-star game recently played in Dallas, which he played in and was loud in his praise of the Green Bay Packers who defeated the all-stars.

Plan Drill Plug Local Oil Test Friday Afternoon

Storage accommodations are being erected at the Jimmie Nowlin and Butler-Calhoun Oil company test the E. T. Traylor in Navarro county, near the Trinity river, it was reported in oil circles here Thursday afternoon.

The plug has been set near the 3,000-foot level and the plug is slated to be drilled Friday afternoon or early Saturday.

This location is 922 feet slightly south of the well and is a producer. If the well is a success, it will mark the first extension of the Flag Lake production on the west side of the river and in Navarro county.

Several unsuccessful tests have been drilled west of this location. It was reported the sand in the Navarro county test was thicker than the sand in the Texas Petroleum well, but this has not been officially confirmed. The Texas Petroleum is classified as between 800 and 1,000-barrel daily capacity.

Richland PTA In First Meeting Of New School Year

The Richland Parent-Teacher Association met Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock for the first business and social meeting of the new school year. There was quite a bit of business to attend to since there were some offices to be filled because of some resignations since our final meeting in May.

Mrs. Walter McDaniel was elected president of the association for the ensuing year, this being her second year as our president. Mrs. E. S. Allen was elected first vice-president, after Mrs. J. Sande resigned the office because of serious illness during the summer. Miss Daisy Manning was elected secretary.

There were twenty-one present at the meeting, but we hope to double our attendance at the first Tuesday in October. Everyone who is interested in our school is invited to join our P.T.A. and we especially invite the mothers from the rural part of our district.

Our first meeting proved very interesting and beneficial to all present, after which ice cream and cake were served by Mrs. Rudolph Flemming and Mrs. Walter McDaniel.

LSU PRESIDENT HAD ENTERTAINMENT BILL $1,000 TWO MONTHS

DR. JAMES MONROE SMITH AND OTHERS ON TRIAL FOR MAIL FRAUD

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Correspondence of Dr. James Monroe Smith, resigned president of Louisiana State University, stating that the university-owned Blenville hotel here was to be leased to charity hospital in 1936 "furnished and equipped" was introduced in the Seymour Weiss mail fraud trial today.

The government alleges fraud was committed when Weiss, Smith and three others collected and shared $75,000 for the hotel furnishings after the hotel, fully equipped, had been purchased by the University shortly before for $975,000, to be used as a charity hospital nurses home.

Evidence was introduced at the government's first "political scandal" trial here to show that Dr. James Monroe Smith, former Louisiana State University president, ran up an entertainment bill of nearly $1,000 at the Roosevelt Hotel in December, 1936, and January, 1937.

Dr. Smith and Seymour Weiss, former Huey Long lieutenant and head of the Roosevelt Hotel, are among the five men now on trial for mail fraud in the $75,000 sale of Blenville Hotel furnishings to L. S. U. The government said the school bought furnishings it already owned.

Dr. Smith's "entertainment" bill was disclosed in a Roosevelt Hotel ledger sheet which was introduced in evidence. District Attorney Rene A. Nioch said the bill was paid when an L. S. U. check for an insurance payment was diverted to Smith's account.

Dr. Smith's costs at the Roosevelt Hotel were incurred during the season his daughter, the former Marjorie Smith, made her debut to society.

Duke and Duchess Of Windsor Leave For London Friday

CANNES, France, Sept. 7.—(AP)—A spokesman for the Duke and Duchess of Windsor announced today they would leave tomorrow for London, ending almost three years of exile for the former king of England.

The exact time of the couple's departure and the route they will take will be kept secret, it was said.

The spokesman said the Duke and Duchess originally decided to return to England last Saturday and summoned a private pilot to fly them over, but adverse weather and outbreak of the European war interfered with their plans. In the ensuing five days they have been seeking means of transportation.

When the Duke reaches England, it will be his first sight of home since Dec. 11, 1938—the day after he abdicated his throne for "the woman I love."

It will also be the first time the former Wallis Warfield, his American-born wife, has set foot as a Duchess on English soil.

Their marriage in France came six months after the abdication. The Duke, who often worried the royal household by exposing himself to front line fire during the world war, when he was Prince of Wales, is rumored to be expecting an "important job" in Great Britain's newest war.
